In a language kids can understand, Randy Alcorn explores Biblical answers to the questions kids often have about heaven. As in the adult title, Heaven, he addresses the difference between the present Heaven, where we go when we die, and the New Earth, where we will live forever with Jesus after he returns. Intended for kids age 8-12, Heaven for Kids is sure to be an excellent resource for families, especially those in which the parents have read the adult title and wish to pass on that same level of understanding to their children. The book features ten chapters of questions, and answers based on scripture and written in a style relevant to today's kids. The book also has a summary of the Gospel for those who want to be sure they are going to Heaven someday. Randy encourages kids to live "in Light of Heaven."

In a story that offers reassurance to children about what happens to people when they die, little Kate's mother helps the girl learn about heaven when her great-grandma passes away. Tour.

Little Cub and Papa Bear wander their arctic neighborhood discussing what angels are, whether they are really all around, what they look like, and how they serve God and protect His cubs.

The light is always on Because Jesus is waiting for you. The very best part of Heaven Is that He's going to be there too. Heaven is a real place. It's where Jesus lives and waits for those he loves to come to him. It's a place of joy and love and hope—a place where all of God's children, young and old, will stay and be happy forever. Engaging questions and scripture references in the back of this book will help parents reinforce the message that Heaven is a place of love that we can all look forward to seeing one day. There's even a special keepsake invitation for children to RSVP to Jesus!

Little Pup wants to better understand why there's only one wolf pup in his family while others have brother and sister pups. Mama and Papa introduces their pup to new family members, helping him to recognize different family types and how family members support and love each other. Full color.

Describes Colton's experiences in Heaven, where he learned what Heaven looks like, who lives there, and how one can get to live there if they love Jesus.

This book was inspired by the passing of some of my younger friends that are in heaven with The Lord. This book is designed to primarily help children understand the truth about death and dying and to look forward to heaven someday as an amazing place that God created for those who have received His Son Jesus, as their Lord and Savior. Included in the book is a prayer for salvation.

"I saw Papa after he died. He looked like he was sleeping. Mommy told me that Papa was in heaven now. I didn't understand because I could still see him lying there." Confused after the death of his grandfather, his Dad shares how God made the first person out of dirt and with the help of an unlikely object, Mom shows that the part we really love is the part on the inside that we can't see. Grappling with how to explain to her own daughters the death of a close friend, Karen has created a story to both gently and clearly explain the relationship between the body and the spirit. It's a story that has been used time and time again in her family and now this story is available to you. Death can be a difficult subject to understand, but this story is written in such a beautiful way that even the youngest in the family can gain a better understanding of what happens and why we still see our loved ones even after they have passed. It is Karen's prayer that you can use this story to help the children in your life navigate the difficult questions about death.
