This book is about the author's life from the midtwenties into to his early thirties. He had always realized that there was a special call on his life. He just thought He would eventually find it. As it turned out, God had to intervene in that process of him finding out his call. Through a series of life-altering events, God showed him his life was not his own. He had been bought with the sacrifice of His Son, Jesus, on the cross, and the author owed Him his life. As a boy, the author received Christ when he was ten years old, and he let his light shine to the world. As he got older and older, he began to dim the light inside of him slowly. By the time he went off to college, he was not the same person. He was addicted to pornography, women, and alcohol. He was chasing something that he knew was wrong but was blinded by youth and immaturity, thinking when it was time to be serious and to settle down, he could do it. Little did he know that God was calling him out of it, and he had a decision to make. Good thing the only thing God wanted from him was his complete surrender. While sometimes his heart would say yes, his head would not. Then there were times where his head would say yes, but his heart would not. But when his head and heart aligned in complete surrender to Him, his life dramatically changed, and it changed permanently.

Andrea Sanders wins his heart, but their utter devotion to each other is tested beyond endurance when the betrayal of a Nation tears apart the Cherokee and forces them into a march to a new land. "Bittner's characters spring to life... extraordinary for the depth of emotion with which they are portrayed."—Publishers Weekly

She realized that she spent most of her life living in distortions and a lie painted by the spirit of denial while pursuing things of this world. With eyes opened to the reality of spiritual warfare and that we do not wrestle with flesh and blood, she discovered that she had built a fortress that not only isolated her, but also housed the devil. It was during this battle for her freedom in Christ that Michelle discovered the awesome power of God and His love for her. What could she give Him in return? Michelle realized that the most valuable thing that she could offer to Him was a living sacrifice "the sacrifice of self. Be inspired and transformed by this true-life testimony."

The author draws upon her own experiences as a wife, mother, and television personality to offer advice on surrendering problems and difficult situations to God and finding personal peace, health, and purpose in life.
